

simple bench

////////////////////////////////////

The rippled design offers contoured seating for two and makes for a unique piece of indoor furniture. This project changed the way I think about furniture design: as it is an occasional use bench; it is looked at much more than it is sat on; so I considered "to be looked at" as an important functional requirement.

Materials: plywood, veneer, steel, aluminum, birch dowels

