

venus of willendorf, revisited

The original Venus of Willendorf is a 25,000 year old sculpture carved in oolitic limestone. Venus of Willendorf, Revisited is a soft urethane rubber cast of the Venus of Willendorf. The material selection is an intuitive response to the form, scale, and subject of the object. The final product is extremely comfortable to hold, squeeze and play with. The material reinforces and actualizes the subtleness implied by the original sculpture, but was impossible at the time of its creation. It can also be cast in any color.

Materials: urethane rubber
